This voluntary class is designed to make you feel more confident at the final audition, should you be chosen as a finalist. For those with previous dance training, the class allows you to see how our choreographers work and the different dance styles incorporated into our season performances. For those with no formal dance training, this session is invaluable as you will be learning techniques that will assist you in learning the tryout routine. Taking the class will not guarantee you'll be selected for our squad, but it will help make you more confident in your abilities during the audition process.

Each year, we have chosen a few candidates for the squad with little dance experience. Since the Raider organization seeks the total package – appearance, personality, poise, people skills and talent – we teach the tryout routine to the finalists. Most people can learn a very short routine within a one-week period, but once rehearsals begin, there are those who really struggle when faced with learning one new routine each rehearsal. For those of you who fall into this category, learning dance technique and terminology can be very beneficial.

The prep class will include a dance class and a question and answer session with Raiderettes and Raiderette staff.

The class environment is supportive and non-competitive. You will have a great time, learn some wonderful skills and make some new friends. We hope you'll join us.

Best Wishes,

Jeanette Thompson
Raiderette Director
